wise Men Steer Clear of Him and Show Preference for Red Friar, Who Gets the Money -Electioneer Furnishes Another Surprise-The Bookmakers Win When the form players scanned the entries for the fifth race at Brighton yesterday they that C. E. Rowe's First Mason, a half-brother to the noted McChesney, had been dropped into a soft spot. First Mason, a stake horse f high calibre, was named to go in a cheap alling affair for which he was entered to be sold for $1,700, although Rowe would prob-ably have declined an offer of $10,000 for him. ably have declined an oner of $10,000 for him. Looking back over the past performances of this fellow the talent noted the fact that with 114 pounds he had been beaten a head by Ram's Horn in the $25,000 Brighton Handicap last July, the mile and a quarter having been run in the fast time of 2:03 3-5. First Mason was asked to go the same route yester-day, and with such cattle as Red Friar, who is liable to break down at any time, Tartan, Huntington, Lady Ellison and Priority to beat it looked like the biggest kind of a cinch, It was not at all surprising, therefore, when the layers opened him the choice at 1 to 2, but the expected plunge from the wise men who bet heavily on such things did not materialize Instead the smart players took Red Friar with so much confidence that he was backed from 7 to 2 down to 13 to 5. Meanwhile in spite of the public's play First Mason receded in the betting until 4 to 5 was obtainable all over the ring.

"There's nothing doing!" said the paddock

sharps as they came up into the clubhouse, ignoring the favorite and taking Red Friar. "First Mason will not win," declared other wiseacres, who generally know what they are talking about. It was quickly rumored that First Mason was not ready for a hard race and that his owner knew this to be a fact before he entered him. Whether Rowe bet on the horse or not could not be learned. but the fact remains that before the barrier went up it was generally accepted that Red Friar would get the coin and that First Mason would meet defeat. With only 105 pounds on his back, Sewell took First Mason so far back that he did not seem to have a chance to get even a part of the money, when he had completed a mile. Then it was that Sewell began to ride, but the effort only excited ugly comments, together with merry laughter from those that had bet on Red Friar. The track was fast, yet the race was run in the slow time of 2:08, Red Friar galloping home three lengths in front of the favorite. It was a shocking performance and one that will not be forgotten by the public in many Electioneer's victory in the Produce Stakes was a distinct form reversal. Beaten badly in the Flatbush Stakes, after his brilliant success in the Futurity, Electioneer was gnored by the smart people who figured De Mund a sure thing, with McCarter, a place, an excellent investment. De Mund, accordingly, was pounded down from 13 to 10 to ever while McCarter remained a shady second choice at 4. Electioneer opened at and went up to 12, an indication of the public's general lack of confidence in him. But Voter colt, who had worked over the Brighton track in the care of William Lakend, showed all of his old speed and treated the crowd to a disagreeable surprise. He met De Mund at equal weights, both being in receipt of three pounds from Water Pearl With a better start, H. P. Whitney's $11,000 Paumonok, 12 to 1, might have carried the day, as he was closing strongly and was beaten a length and a head after being practically left at the post. Mr. Whitney, who saw the race, was somewhat disappointed because Paumonok had not been thoroughly schooled to the barrier.

For a time, after the horses had finished, It looked as if there would be a disqualification. Water Pearl, when in a good position on the rail in the middle of the backstretch, was suddenly crowded in such a manner that Jones was forced to pull up quickly, losing so much ground that he never had a chance to finish in the money thereafter. After leaving the scales Jones went before the stewards with a protest of foul which he lodged against Miller, the rider of McCarter, who with Radtke had hurried off to the paddock. The stewwho returned at their leisure while a big crowd waited around the stand. Miller said that he was not guilty, but declared that Radtke was the real culprit. As it seemed to be a general mixup, with nobody in particular at fault, the stewards ordered the red board to be hoisted. But a few moments later Steward Fitzgerald notified all the boys in the jockeys' room that for the least sign of rough riding in future an immediate suspension for the rest of the meeting would be handed out to the offender. Then the stew-ards appointed Frenk J. Bryan an assistant patrol judge for this meeting, his position to be on the backstretch where a great deal of foul riding has occurred lately.

Electioneer, who ran in the name of J Curtis Van Ness and in the presence of Felix Isman of Philadelphia, his reputed owner, carried off $11,222 as his share of the stakes Mexican, Stalwart, Diamond and Kurcki Were the previous winners of the colt division of the Produce. Court Dress added $10,777.6 to the winnings of Mr. Keene as her share of the filly part of the Produce, the rrevious winners being Eugenia Eurch, Audience, Princess Rupert and Tiptoe. C. E. Rowe's May Rowe was an added starter, while Paul J. Rainev's Vervane was also added but scratched at the last moment. Whitey Langdon said yesterday that

Flip Flap would start in both the Cup Preliminary to-day and the Brighton Cup next Saturday, but that, win or lose, she would be sold at auction during the Belmont Park however, as they are a promising lot. Starter Dade's work with the barrier gave general satisfaction, with the exception of Be Mund and Paumonok received the worst of it. His sendoff in the last race with fifteen | report before the end of the week. herses from a point directly in front of the broke into loud applause. T. Clark, who rode Bizzy Izzy in this event, was suspended for the rest of the week for disobedience at the post. The last time Holscher started the Shields family and others bet on him heavily. Yesterday they let him run loose at 15 to 1 and immediately went into deep mourning after they saw him breeze home.

The bookmakers had an excellent day. Dr. Gardner, winner of the first race, receded from 4 to 8, while Adoration, the second horse, went up to 40 to 1. Big money was retained by the layers when Penarris and Halifax were defeated.

T. S. Martin, winner of the jumps, was saddled by W. Garth, in whose name Souvigny ran in the same race, yet they were not coupled in the betting. The books suffered a hard joit when T. S. Martin wen, as he was literally backed off the boards at the fored a hard joit when T. S. Martin won, as he was literally backed off the beards at the last moment.

The plungers accepted 1 to 3. Court Dress, in the third race with much eagerness, and it proved as easy as finding the money in the street. The books accepted a let of place money on Glamor, but Barbary Beile was also well played the same way, which made the event a losing proposition for the ring.

But when Electioneer won the layers were suprement happy, as De Mund and McCarter will water Pearl was played chiefly place and scheme will be paced by an automobile to the college, where the finish will be attended in the ring, but several clubhouse and show. Red Friar's auccess in the fifth race made the business on this event about a standoff in the ring, but several clubhouse layers were severely scorched. Jartan was also liberally taken both ways.

The last event was a neat cleanup for the ring, as Lady Tarantella was heavily supported, her odds dropping from 2 to 1 to 7 to 5, while Holscher and Adonis were let severely alone. Bluestone, Blue Pigeon and Grenadier were also taken, three ways.

Grenadier, a three-year-old gelding by Sandringham Kalula, ran in H. P. Whitsey's name. He had never started before and ran as if both green and in need of several races.

LEXINGTON TURF NOTES.

Momentum Enters Class of $5,000 Wino -Hamburg Belle at Elmenderf. LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 1. -Momentum, with ten wins now to his credit, is the thirty-sixth performer among two-year-olds to win $5,000 or over this season. Momentum was bred by H. T. Oxnard, New York, L. t. was foaled in Kentucky. He cost the New astle Stable $500 as a yearling. Balance II., his dam, was a winner of fourteen races.
Fred Burlew has sold to J. E. Madden the wo-year-old bay filly Yankee Sister, by the Futurity winner Yankee-imp. Sister Cheerful, by Petrarch, and she arrived here from the Eastla few days ago to be retired to the stud at Hamburg Place. She is a half sister to the dead sire imp. Mirthful and the first daughter of Yankee to go to the stud. W. S. Payne, Maplewood Stud, has sold to Trainer Grover Hughes two richly bred yearling fillies, one a bay by Ed Corrigan's noted English raceborse imp. Scintillant and the other a brown by imp. Ingoldsby. Hughes has also bought of T. C. McDowell

Hughes has also bought of T. C. McDowell the four-year-old chestnut colt Don Cæsar, by Algoi-Countess Irana, by Sir Dixon. Don Cæsar is still a maiden, but McDowell once thought he was a $10,000 horse.

Hamburg Belle was only allo wed to come to Elmendorf Stud from the East to be retired to the stud, in charge of Manager C. I. Berryman. J. B. Haggin has not been so particular about the shipment of a horse since the great Salvator was sent to (alifornia years ago to begin his career as a sire.

Forty three-year-olds have won $5,000 and over on the American turf this season up to September 22, inclusive, and these cracks ombined have won a total of $523,729 in stakes and purses. The five chief winning three-year-olds of the season are Accountant, $26,380; Sir Huon, $37,830; Burgomaster, $27,530; Inquisitor, $20,725, and Flip Flap, $18,900. Imp. Meddler is the sire of three of the $5,000 three-year-old winners of the year, and imp. Sandringham, Hastings and imp. Sain each have two representatives to their credit.

and imp. Sandringham, Hastings and imp. Sain each have two representatives to their credit.

Lee Darnaby and Will Young are the latest trainers to take up their yearlings at the Kentucky association track. Both have been very busy since coming home from the race circuit getting together the youngsters which will be raced by them next season as two-year-olds. Young has the biggest stable of youngsters in number, but Darnaby has several youngsters of unusually good looks and promise in his string.

Salvidere's six straight victories puts him in the lead of the winning two-year-olds of the season, he having now $52,780 to his credit, which is $6,320 more than Water Pearl has won this year. He has now won $49,080 over the amount Hitchcock and Madden paid the estate of the late Capt. S. S. Brown for him early in the summer. Salvidere is one of six foals by Belvidere dropped in 1804. Belcast, an Eastern winner of a couple of youngsters by the brother to Sir Dixon. Hiram Steele has taken the Blue Grass Fair winner Judex to Douglas Park. Louisville, to race out the fall season there. The old gelding appears to be in better form now than he has been before this year and Steele expects to win several good races with him. Judex is owned by Major P. P. Johnston, president of the National Trotting Association.

CROSS-COUNTRY AT COLUMBIA. Attempt to Make It the University's Lead-

at Columbia University yesterday afternoon meeting. Langdon will keep his yearlings, a definite policy of making cross-country however, as they are a promising lot. now that football has been dropped, was begun. Several of the old track team are back and grand stand was so good that the crowd out for cross-country, but are badly out of condition. Zink, the star half miler, has been running all summer and in consequence is a bit stale, while Heatherington, a member of the two mile relay team, has not been doing enough work to keep his muscles hard. Several promising new candidates reported. Among them was K. V. W. Koo, Columbia's young Chinese debater, with whose work Trainer Crooks was much pleased. West, a freshman, also showed possibilities of speed. A consistent effort will be made to get the students to engage in cross-country running, whether they hope to make the team or not. James Sullivan, president of the Metropolitan Association of the A. A. U., has promised to help out along this line by offering several several of the alumni have also offered to give medals, which are to be open to competition sunong all the classes. DEFEATS DE MUND AND OTHERS IN PRODUCE STAKES.

James R. Keene's Court Dress Breeze Home in Race for Fillies-T. S. Martin a Good Jumper—Dr. Gardner, Red Friar and Holscher Also Successful.

Brighton's fall meeting began yesterday at the Beach, the chilly weather and the ocean blasts making overcoats comfortable, at the same time keeping the attendance down to the regulars, about 8,000 of whom were on The $30,000 Produce Stakes, for twoyear-olds, six furlongs, was run in two divis Electioneer, the Futurity winner, neglected at 12 to 1, ran back to his best form. Dugar waited with him while Paul J. Rainey's De Mund, even money favorite, set a hot pace, attended by the Newcastle Stable's McCarter, 4 to 1. When the head of the stretch was reached Electioneer moved up on the outside and with a brilliant rush to the wire he Paumonok, 12 to 1, by a nostril. Paumonok, who began slowly, ran a great race, beating McCarter a head for third money. Sydney Paget's Water Pearl, the top weight, was the victim of rough riding in the backstretch. Jones pulling him up to escape a fall over the rail. Jones lodged a protest of foul against Miller, who in turn tried to put the blame on Radtke. There was no change in the original placing, however. James R. Keene's Court Dress, a prohibitive favorite, had an easy time winning the race for fillies. She led from start to finish and was just breezing at the end, beating E. R. Thomas's Barbary Belle, 8 to 1, by length in 1:12 4-5. The latter stood a drive and took the place from James Curl's Common Sue, 10 to 1, by a head. August Belmont's Glamor, heavily backed for the place, was unable to raise a good gallop.

C. C. Smithson's T. S. Martin, even money favorite, experienced no trouble in capturing the steeplechase, for three year-olds, at about two miles. Rogan had him in hand, while making all the pace, and at the end he romped home with fifteen lengths to spare in 4:15. William Huffman's Realm, 12 to 1, ran second home with fifteen lengths to spare in 4:15.

William Huffman's Realm, 12 to 1, ran second, twenty lengths before Mr. Cotton's Sanctus, coupled with St. Kevin at 7 to 1. J. W. Colt's Commodore Fontaine, 8 to 1, fell on the backstretch the second time around.

E. R. Thomas's Halifax, even money favorite, received what looked like an easy ride from Radtke, as he seemed unable to extend himself and got no part of the money. Barney Schreiber's Dr. Gardner, 8, 50 1, on the other hand, cut loose on the far turn and came home the winner by two lengths, R. T. Wilson, Jr.'s Adoration, a 40 to 1 shot, nailing the place from M. L. Schwartz's Penarris, 13 to 5, by half a length. Halifax, with top weight, was a head back: The time was 1:12 2-5.

The wise men steered clear of C. E. Rowe's First Mason, odds on favorite, in the fifth event, for platers, at a mile and a quarter, preferring P. J. Dwyer's Red Friar, who was backed from 7 to 2 down to 13 to 5. Martin handled Red Friar in perfect style, the Dwyer horse coming home the easiest kind of a winner by three lengths in 2:96. After laying out of it for nearly a mile, Sewell made his run with First Mason, who finished second, two lengths before Tartan, 6 to 1.

William Shields's Holscher, passed up at 15 to 1, came suddenly to life in the last race, for maidens, at a mile and a sixteenth, and taking command at the end of the far turn he won easily by a length in 1:48 2-5. T. M. Cassidy's Adonis, 10 to 1, nipped the place from V. E. Madden's Lady Tarantella, a hot favorite at 7 to 5, by three parts of a length. Four favorites met defeat and the ring prospered accordingly. The summaries:

CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 1.—The coaches of the Harvard football team have apparently not given up all hope of working the forward pass. After abandoning it for almost a week it was taken up again to-day and with the onside kick took up a half hour of secret practice. In the scrimmage, which was open, the forward pass was tried five times, and three of these were successful. The varsity made twelve yards on it once, fifteen another and twenty a third time. The work to-day was the best the men have done. Severa end runs made from ten to fifteen yards Burr, Starr and Pierce all got into the scrim-mage to-day for the first time. Pierce was used at tackle instead of guard, where he played substitute to Kersburg last year, while Burr and Starr filled their old places, left guard and quarterback. There were five new men to-day: T. Roosevelt, Jr., the President's son, who played end on the fresh man team last fall; Harry Tweed, '07, hal on the '07 class team for two years, and three

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., Oct. 1 .- The footbal outlook at Wesleyan last week received a severe setback by the announcement by the faculty that several of the varsity men will doubtless be kept out of the game by scholarship restrictions. While the team was at Ocean Grove, N. J., undergoing a hardening process under the direction of Coach Bosey Reiter, many of the men received daily instruction from a competent instructor. How-ever, Jake Seiter, a brother of Bosev, and last year's promising end, has had trouble with his examinations and will probably be barred. Taylor and Seeley, both linemen and weighing over 200 pounds, will also be out of the game owing to faculty restrictions. This will be a heavy loss to the line, as both Seeley and Taylor had had one year's work under Reiter's heavy loss to the line, as both Seeley and Taylor had had one year's work under Reiter's tutelage and were also valuable men on account of their weight. The only entering man who has been restricted from playing thus far is West, the erack Syracuse (N. Y.) High School back, who entered Wesleyan this fail.

Aside from these faculty restrictions the work of the team has been encouraging and the men are in fine condition for their game with Yale on Wednesday of this week and the contest with Brown on Saturday. The surprise of the week has been the drop kicking ability of Moore, one of last year's sub half-backs. Cunningham, the midget end who entered West Point this summer, did the drop kicking for Wesleyan last fall and it was thought that his loss would be felt heavily, but Moore seems to be filling the bill acceptably. Gildersleeve, last year's star halfback, is showing up finely behind the line and the other candidates assure a fast quartet in the back field. The linemen are also in good condition and the main thing that is perplexing Coach fielter is how to fill the vacancies on the line left by the withdrawal of Seeley and Taylor.

Princeton, N. J., Oct. 1—The change

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 1.—The change in the weather early last week proved invaluable to the Tigers' football work. Since Monday a steady improvement could be noticed and both coaches and players are hustling with all their might. University Field is now in fair condition for fast work; the tackling duminy is receiving hard jolts, too.

It is a long time since prospects have looked as bright for a winning team as they do at present. At first the new rule debarring freshmen from playing on a varsity team was looked upon with deep frowns, but from freshmen from playing on a varsity team was looked upon with deep frowns, but from the way things appear now it would take a pretty big freshman star to get on Princeton's gridiron firmament. The line gives every promise of being a heavy and strong one, and better than that a line made up of veterans. As yet the positions are not definitely picked, but the material is there, and that's what counts.

Capt. Dillon, Jim Cooney, Stannard and Herring are the tackles and guards Princeton men are pinning their hopes on. Capt. Dillon is in great shape, the arm which bothered him last year being greatly strengthened. Cooney got into the first scrimmage on Wednesday. Herring is better than ever, judging from his aggressiveness in practice. He is heavier, too, than he was last year. Stannard was ordered into the game Wednesday. It was his first football appearance since 1904, when he played tackle. This giant is likely to play the game of his life this year, because he is free from faculty restrictions and his injured ankle, he says, is growing stronger every ankle, he says, is growing stronger ankle, he says, is growing stronger every day.

As this quartet, with Rheinstein at centre, swings in play one recalls the massive lines of several years ago. How the four may be shifted is not certain, but it looks like Capt. Dillon and Stannard, guards, and Herring and Cooney, tackles. Rheinstein has been out on the scrub for three years. He is short, stocky and fast and works like a Trolan.

At quarterback Eddie Dillon is playing the game of his career. He is in great physical condition, and has improved on his methods of running the team. At practice last week his long runs were hair raising. He is especially eleyer at running back kicks. McCor-his long runs were hair raising. He is especially clever at running back kicks. McCormick is playing fullback and Daub one halfback, but the other place in the back field is being contested for eagerly. Tenney. Tibbot, Harlan and Coxe are all promising men. Hooks and Stoever have been taking McCormick's place frequently.

Hoagland and Wister continue to be the first choice of ends. They certainly look good to observers, for they are speedy and heady and work together well. How the Tigers hunger for another pair like Davis and Henry! Johnny Vaughan and Warden are also being tried out on the extreme positions. Harlan has been doing a bit of drop kicking with some success, and he sets bis kicks off ouickly from a close formation. Probably McCormick will do the punting this fall.

The sounds out for practice last week have averaged about fifty men, which is a good showing when the fact that only men from the three upper classes are allowed to play is considered. The work is full of ginger, for the coaches are pushing things in a lively manner, and, by the way, the coaches are by far the best that Princeton has had in years. Head Coach Roper has full control, and his assistants are Phil King, Eddie Holt and Jack Munn. Almost every day some old player drops in to watch the work.

New Haven, Oct. 1.—Yale football practice in the early season this year presents two distinct variations of the usual procedure of the coaches, one in the style of play being taught and the other in the method of handling the team as a general proposition. "Straight football" has been Yale's coaching slogan for many years. Teach the candidates the rudiments thoroughly and let the tricks develop as they will has been the method here for more than a decade. Not so this year. Tricks, tricks and more tricks are the order of the day. The forward pass, double passes, nine and ten men on the line, smoother plays and such tactics were taught even before a code of signals was devised. These things usually came only after the season was well along and big games nigh and then they often failed to show at all.

As to the methods of teaching the game. Heretofore the cry has been heard of coaches for the men for the residence. Those found often failed to show at all.

As to the methods of teaching the game. Heretofore the cry has been heard of coaches for the men for the positions. Those found, the teaching of the Vale game was assured. Now the idea is: "Let's learn the game, we'll find the men." This is regarded as a complete reversal and all because of the reform movement inaugurated last winter after the finish of the season of 1905. What ultimate effect the new rules will have on the game is beyond the guess of the doaches here. When asked to express opinions they declare that they are not yet in a position to hazardan opinion. In fact, they say, they have not determined whether they like them or hold an opposite feeling.

So far the rules do not seem to have made the game any rougher. No injuries wegt by the name have occurred. As indicated, the makeup of the Yale eleven is not bothering the coaches as much as the mastery of the game's possibilities under the new regime. Bigslow and Forbes seem fixtures in their nositions, and indications point to Erwin heine a mard. It is thought that the coming week will see the insurguration of scoret practice, but the sentiment in the university is a gainst the idea, as the followers of the game desire to learn it as well as the players.

reginst the idea, as the followers of the game desire to learn it as well as the players.

The Syracuse University football team is working daily for the first hard game of the schedule with Yale on October 8 at New Haven. With such a large number of hisky men in line in former seasons the prospects would have been considered exceptionally bright, but just how the team will work out under the new rules is the question that is bethering the football followers.

Dr. Charles P. Hutchins, last season's football coach, is new bead of the descriment of ensignal instrugion at you University of Wisconsin and in his place Syracuse leas engaged Frank J. O'Neill, Williams, 'o', also a graduate of the Syracuse law school, who has been reaconsible for the rapid rise of Colgate in the football world in the last three seasons, and Leigh C. Turner, the bic tackle who assisted Destmouth to heat Harvard it to 0 in 1903. Turner was graduated from Destmouth in lond and entered the law school of the University of Wichigan, where last year he assisted Hurry Up Yost. He came to Syracuse highly recommended.

The members of last season's acrad who are eligible for the team include Cant. Stinson, halfback the past two seasons. Stein fullbac. Park, Fisher, Dolan and Farrington, halfback; Bill Horr, intercollegiate champion harmer thrower, and Orlo Waugh, guards; Harwood and Cadigan, tackles; Ranka, quarterback, and Revnobris, and Skully, ends.

NO SCORING BY THE CARDINALS

NEW YORKS BLANK THEIR OP-PONENTS TWICE.

Brooklyns Unable to Hit Consecutively and Lose to the Pittsburgs-Cubs Continue to Accumulate Victories-Bostons Give the Cincinnatis a Setback

The New York Nationals completed their season's series with the St. Louis team yes-terday by shutting the latter out twice. The Cardinals were pie for the New Yorks, who won nineteen out of twenty-two games. The Brooklyns were beaten by the Pittsburgs and missed a good opportunty to gain on the Cincinnatis, the Reds dropping a game in Boston. The insatiable Cubs knocked the Philadeliphias over a couple of times. The results New York, S; St. Louis, 6-First game. New York, 2; St. Louis, 0-Second game Pitisburg, 5; Brooklyn, 1. Chicago, 4; Philadelphia, 0-First game.

Chicago, 4; Philadelphia, 3-Second game. Boston, 4: Cincinnati, 2. STANDING OF THE CLUBS. NEW YORK (N. L.), 3: ST. LOUIS (N. L.), 0-FIRST GAME.

Crisp pitching in crisp weather was done by the New York moundmen at the Polo rounds yesterday, and the big league neophytes from St. Louis were shut out twice. Ames struck out eleven in the first game. There was excellent pitching on the St. Louis side too, but the New Yorks were there with the needed hits. The Cardinals were not able in a single inning of the fourteen played to make a hit when a man was on base, and all New York had to do for the Cardinals' chances to become as moribund as the season was to make one run. There was a red headed citizen in the grand stand who attracted as much attention as the games from the handful of spectators. He declared that his hair was litian, not red, and he was not enamoured of the New Yorks. He wore a parh to the refectory back of the stand and became more disputatious after each trip. Finally he and another man got into a wrangle over a bet and the police' persuaded him to moderate his transports.

The first game was as arid as the Sahara until the seventh inning, which was a somewhat complicated jumble. The New Yorks scored thrice, but would not have scored at all but for awkward fielding. Browne singled, stole second and was effaced at third on Seymour's rap to Karger. Seymour reached second when Bennet muffed Noonan's perfect throw squarely. On Bresnahan's biff to Karger, Si was silenced at third. Hannifin gambolled o'er the green on four balls. Murray misjudged mcGann's lick and made a three bagger of it, Bresnahan and Hannifin scoring. Dahlen promptly singled and batted McGann home. Shannon did a smart bit of fielding on Barry's two bagger in the sixth inning. He ran across and collared the ball on the bound, heading off a homer.

Ferguson showed his worth in the second setto, when he experienced the novelty of going in at the start. It was only a five inning affair, but Ferguson, to all appearances, could have gone on at the same effective rate, the held the Cardinals to one hit, fanned five and disbursed no passes. Bresnahan was the ringleader in the New York attack. He doubled in the second inning. Hannifin bunted, and Barry scooped the ball. Barry made the bull that he neophytes from St. Louis were shut out twice mes struck out eleven in the first game.

pected Bresnanan to be called out on a double play. It was a good piece of acting, but did not delude the umpire. McGann's fly to Murray convoyed Bresnahan from third to the plate. Bresnahan slipped a single to left in the fourth inning, stole second and, having started for third with the pitch, drifted home on McGann's slash to right. The scores:

Inability to hit consecutively caused the downfall of the Brooklyns yesterday—that and some telling fielding by the Pittsburgs when men were on bases. Either a sharp fielding play interposed a barrier between the Brooklyns and the plate or the batter was not able to advance the base runner. In nearly every inning members of the home team reached first base, fourteen of them being left on the sacks. The Pittsburgs won in the fourth and fifth innings. Wagner doubled in the fourth took third on Nealon's out at first and scored on Abstein's bunt. Ritchey and Gibson batted Abstein home. Leach walked in the fifth, Meier squeezed in a hit sud Pastorious made a bad throw of Wagner's sacrifice, on which Leach scored. On Nealon's force of Wagner Meier came through. The score-pittsburg. MIXUP IN MOTOR BOAT RULES. Chippewa Bay Y. C. Disqualifies Gold Cup Winner, Overriding A. P. A. The trouble over the American Power Boat Association's gold challenge cup is not over yet and things have taken a peculiar turn. After the Chip II. had won two out of the eries of three races a protest was filed by the owner of the Sparrow on the ground that the Chip II. was not properly rated. The motor of the Chip II. was remeasured and it was found that by an ingenious adaption she compressed the gasclene in a third uring the power of the motor. It was a point that the members of the Chippewa Bay Yacht Club could not settle and the matter was referred to the executive committee of the American Power Boat Association. That committee decided that the protest should not be sustained and said "the use of the third evlinder increased the horse-power of the motor by increasing the mean effective pres-motor by increased the horse-power of the motor by increasing the mean effective pressure above that used in arriving at the formula for measuring two cycle engines, but such increase was fairly obtained and it is a valuable improvement and not a subterfuge to circumvent the rating rule."

When this decision was received by the regatta committee of the Chippewa Bay Yacht Club the matter was reconsidered, and taking the statement of the committee of the Power Boat Association into consideration, the regatta committee ruled that the extra cylinder increased the horse-power of the Chip II.'s motor from 16.75 to 38.86. On this new rating a new full rating f r the boat was figured and on the new rating the Chip II. loses the match, not having been better than second in any of the three races. The Chip II. under the new rating allows the Sparrow Is minutes 50 seconds over the course of 26.05 nautical miles and the Sparrow wins all three races. The Jewel was second in the series and the Chip II. third. The committee decides that the challenge cup goes to the Riverton Yacht Club, which club was represented by the Sparrow, wenced by Charles J. Swain, and the Riverton Yacht Club has been notified of this decision.

Fall crew practice began at Columbia yesterday with a large squad of men. Rice, the new coach, introduced an innovation by placing the men in centipede fours instead of having them begin on the awceps as has always been done before. The new style caused the men considerable trouble, even the old timers getting mixed up. To one boat in which were four of last year's crew, the order was given "Hold port, pull star-the order was given "Hold port, pull star-board." The whole crew held port, but forgot to pull starboard, and as a result the boat did not move.

None of the freshmen were boated yesterday, as the necessary oars and rigging had not arrived from the Hudson River boat house. Rice announces that he will keep the men at work out of doors as long as the weather permits. He will then put them on the machines where they will stay until spring, and there will be no letup in the work.

There are some Columbia men who are hoping to arrange a race with Harvard to be rowed this fall. An unofficial report has been received that the Crimson crew would be in favor of such a race. The general impression is, however, that owing to the fact that Harvard has been in training all aummer, while Columbia has not trained at all, Columbia would have little chance could such a race be arranged.

Considering Course for Intercellegiate Cross-Country Race.

The managers of the intercollegiate crosscountry race will meet in a short while to ettle the matter of the course for this year's race. It is understood that the competition this season may be held at Van Corthault Park instead of at Travers Island. Sullivan, secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U. who always has taken great interest in college matters, suggests that one of the country clubs might offer the use of its grounts as a typical cross-country course. This suggestion also will be considered.

VILLAGE WATCHMAN HELD UP.

Two Highwaymen Take His Pistel and Money and Place Him in the Lockup. BUFFALO, Oct. 1 .- The police force of Mount Morris, a village about fifty miles from this city, was held up and robbed by two masked highwaymen last night, and to-day the Buffalo police are looking for the highwaymen.
The Mount Morris police force, consisting of James Cleary, had just left the village lockup to patrol the main street of the village when the two highwaymen jumped from behind a tree, levelled revolvers at him and commanded him to throw up his hands. He did so. The robbers then took his revolver, and also appropriated $2.30, all the money he had.

By that time Mount Morris's entire patrol system was completely demoralized, and it was a simple matter for the highwaymen to was a simple matter for the highwaymen to take the police force to the village lockup and place it in one of the cells. That being accomplished, the highwaymen proceeded to carry out plans of looting Mount Morris.

The first place visited was the only jewelry store in the village, and the highwaymen made preparations to blow up the safe in the store. The safe contained $4,000 worth of jewelry.

Cleary, however, had succeeded in removing the gag which had been placed in his mouth by the highwaymen, and then by persistent yelling aroused a villager, who rang the fire bell. In a little while the entire village was out looking for the highwaymen, but in the excitement the crooks got away.

Entries Averaging About as Usual for Women's Champienship. There were fifty-seven entries booked esterday afternoon for the women's national golf championship, which begins on Monday at the Brae Burn Country Club, near Boston The entries closed at 6 P. M., but as usual the total will not be given out until the late mails are at hand. Miss Pauline Mackay of Boston, the titleholder, sent in her name yesterday. The New England and Western players are quite well represented, but the names have not come as quickly as customary from the Philadelphia and Metropolitan Golf Association clubs. Miss F. C. Griscom, the former champion, and Miss C. F. Fox, the strongest of the Philadelphia players, have entered. Mrs. E. F. Sanford, president of the Women's Eastern Golf Association, with Mrs. S. F. Lefferts, Miss Julia Mix and Miss Elizabeth Hurry were the most prominent of the New York players on the list. Neither Miss Generieve Bishop, champion of 1904, Mrs. Charles T. Stout, twice champion, nor Miss F. Louise Vanderhoef had entered up to 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. There were sixty-nine entries for the championship last year, and the expectation is that the total will be equalled or surpassed when all the names are booked. players are quite well represented, but the Martey O'Loughlin, the professional of the Plainfield Country Club, in a match with a member, Percy Stewart, has equalled the record of the course 67, held by Robert Abbott, the intercollegiate champion.

There will be a great gathering of veterans in the thirty-six hole handicap at the Apawamis Club, on October 11, in which no one may start who is under 55 years of age. It is the second renewal of the competition, in which Horace Russell and J. B. McDonaid won the net prizes last year and J. D. Foot the gross score prize. This year there will be six prizes. Early birds to enter are Horace Russell, John W. Griggs, E. C. Converse, George P. Sheldon and J. E. Smith of Wilmington, Del.

George Low, president of the Eastern Professional Golfers' Association, made the new thirty-six hole record of 74, 72—146 on Thursday in the rain at Baltusrol. He states that following the precedent of the Western Professional Golfers' Association and the competitions of the British district professional leagues, the championship at the Forest Hill Field Club October 23 and 24 will be limited to members of the Eastern association. association.

The fall tournament of the National Freight Traffic Golf Association will be held at the Exmoor Country Club, Highland Park, Ill., on October 10, 11 and 12. The Eastern branch held its tournament at Fox Hills in June and the Southern branch held an earlier tournament at Hot Springs, Va. The coming tournament will be the central, or national, one and the entries will include players from West and East. Besides the championship cup many minor trophies will be in play. Harry Vardon and Aleck Herd have just finished a series of three thirty-six hole matches. At Innerleithen Herd won by 3 and 1, at Kingussie Vardon had the remarkable victory of 10 and 8, while at Kendal, on September 13, Vardon won by 2 up. Vardon's card was 72, 74—146 and Herd's 71, 76—147. Lord Glerawly, County Down, on September 16, won the South of Ireland open amateur champtonship at Lahinck, beating Frank Eastabrook, London, by 10 up and 0 to play, in thirty-six holes. H. A.
